

Iowa MBB: Season Journey for Young Hawkeyes Comes to an End at Carver Hawkeye Arena – TCU edges Iowa in Overtime 94-92 in NIT 2nd Round Game

Iowa City, Iowa—You can blame a number of factors for the season-ending loss for Iowa's Men's Basketball Team, but the electric crowd at Carver Hawkeye Arena certainly wasn't one of those. The young Iowa team played its final game of the 2016-17 season which went just about as most should have expected, losing to another young team – the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs – by a final overtime score of 94-92.

Iowa uncharacteristically struggled from the free throw line, hitting just 8-19 for a paltry 42%. However the Hawkeyes were 54% overall from the field (34-63) and 53% from beyond the arc (16-30). It wasn't just making free throws that were an issue – the Hawks 17 turnovers (most in the 1st Half) which the Horned Frogs turned into 28 points. Iowa also had two critical turnovers during the overtime period. TCU burned Iowa in the paint, scoring a whopping 58 points there as opposed to just 30 for the Hawkeyes.

TCU also shot well: 51% from the field 36-71), including 42% from three-point range (10-24) – but Iowa's shaky defense throughout the game contributed to that scoring. At times, the Hawkeyes struggled defensively both in the paint and on the perimeter, surrendering too many uncontested shots by TCU.

Iowa was led in scoring by Senior Peter Jok who scored 22 points including the five three-pointers he hit. Freshman Point Guard Jordon Bohannon had a career-high 25 points including 7-12 from beyond the arc. Bohannon not only was hot from beyond the arc, he also had his third consecutive game with 10 or more assists – his 13 in this contest was a career high. After not being a factor in the last two games, Nicholas Baer came out of his short hibernation to toss in 15 points, including 4-5 three-pointers – and Baer led Iowa in rebounding with 10 during his 34 minutes of playing time. Tyler Cook also scored in double figures with 16 and, while he struggled early in this game, he was a key contributor later. One footnote on scoring, Tyler Cook made all seven of his field goal attempts in this game, which extended his consecutive field goal streak to 18 going back to the Indiana game in the B1G Tourney.

This was Iowa's first ever overtime game in NIT play – and its fifth overall of the season. There were nine lead changes in this game, which was also tied six times. TCU held the lead for 31:07 while Iowa had it for just 8:28.

Iowa is now 19-15 overall and with the loss to TCU fell one game short of its fifth consecutive 20-win (or more) season under McCaffery. Iowa dropped to 4-1 in NIT home games with Fran at the helm. The Horned Frogs improved to 21-15 on the season.
